Monica Mor, aged 43 years, has done her MBA in Marketing and is currently pursuing PhD in the area of Non Profit Sector. She started her career as a lecturer with College of Business Studies, Delhi University and then shifted to Bangalore. She has now been living in Gurgaon for the past 9 years and has been teaching various subjects in Marketing at IILM Institute for Higher Education, a business school in Gurgaon. She has now moved on and joined Fortune Institute of International Business, New Delhi. She has in the past couple of years done ample research in the Third Sector of India, focusing more on the National Capital region, and feels that while a lot is being done in this sector, the NGOs need to reorganize and operate in a more professional manner. It was as a part of one of her researches that she met up with Mr. Yogendra Jha, Founder & Secretary, CSSAR, and found her true calling in working pro bono for the NGO. Education and children have always been very close to her heart and what better way to give back to the society than by working with an NGO that provides education to little children. Monica envisions a society where children would have access to good quality education, where they not only become literate but also better human beings, after all the nation's future rests on their tiny shoulders.

Yogendra Jha, aged 53 years, has done M.A. in Sociology and Diploma in Labour Laws. He started his career as lecturer in an Inter College at Deoghar where he taught for around eight years and went on to work as an Assistant Director in the Employees' Provident Fund Organization (EPFO), Ministry of Labour, Govt. of India for twelve years. During his service in the EPFO, he conducted several studies for rickshaw pullers, barbers and bidi rollers on social security related issues. It was during the course of these studies that he got to work closely with laborers especially rickshaw pullers in Delhi and was moved by their sad plight. In 2004 he started working with them and helped form twenty self-help groups for rickshaw pullers and maids. Later on he started teaching slum children on weekends. These classes were mostly held in temples and public places and went on like till 2007. In 2008 he founded Center for Social Security Action & Research (CSSAR) and in the same year quit his job to work full time for CSSAR and devote all his focus and energy to the group. He envisions a society where every child gets proper education irrespective of social and financial background.

Shashi Pal, 56 lives in Delhi. He holds degrees in B Sc and Master Mariner. He served in Merchant Navy for 35 years and retired as captain in 2017.
